3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

How to spend our free time

Time lost never comes back, so our spare time should be spent wisely. Other than reading, we can do interesting things to enjoy it. We can go to the cinema which is a source of amusement and culture. The theatre too furnishes us with valuable instruction. Playing games is another way for enjoying our spare time. Games and sports strengthen our bodies and build our characters. In our spare time we can practice our favourite hobbies, taking photographs, playing music, painting or growing flowers are all good and useful hobbies.

However, spare time may lead to the ruin of one’s character if it is misused. A great number of our youth may spend it wandering idly here and there doing nothing. They may spend it at cafes with wicked people. This affects them badly, physically, morally, and psychologically. We have to save our youth form committing follies by establishing youth centers and camps. To sum up, a successful person is the one who can always make the best of his spare time.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

One day, I was standing outside an underground station in London waiting for a friend, when I saw two men. One was sitting on the pavement. His clothes were old and dirty and had a hat in front of him. As people passed by, he said, “Can you give me some change, please? “ A few people tossed some coins into the hat but most people ignored him. The other man was wearing a suit and holding plastic petrol can. He stopped people and told them his car had run out of petrol and he had forgotten his wallet. He asked them to lend him some money for petrol. Most people happily gave him money. Some gave him coins, but most gave him notes. I watched him for ten minutes. In that time he collected a lot of money. He put it in his pocket, but he did not go to the petrol station. It became clear to me that both men were beggars. The one in the dirty clothes needed money more than one in the suit. But the one in the suit was much more successful. Isn’t that strange?

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Most students find university very different from school. One of the biggest differences is that university students are expected to manage their time themselves. Although staff will help, it is the students' responsibility to be in the right place at the right time and to hand homework in on time. The way teaching is organised is also very different from school. At university, lecturers teach classes that may last two or three hours and can include 300-400 students. There are usually other smaller classes where students can discuss subjects they find difficult, and from time to time lecturers spend time with individual students, talking about work they have done. If students are not living at home while they are at university, there are many ordinary things they may have to do for themselves.

1- University students are............. responsible for their own studies than students at school.

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

Forms of energy

There are different forms of energy in the world today. Most of the energy which is used today in homes and industry comes from fossil fuels. Coal, oil and natural gas are all fossil fuels. They are called non-renewable forms of energy because it takes millions of years to make or renew them. So, we must reduce the amount of non-renewable fuels that we use.

We need to find other forms of energy that will never run out . These forms of energy are called renewable. Examples of these are energy from the sun and the wind. Water is another renewable source of energy. It is called hydroelectric power. Nuclear energy is also a clean renewable source of energy. However, it is dangerous. It is important that we all save energy.

Charles was a professor with a huge house and a fortune. Today he lives in a small caravan where there is only second-hand furniture. There are no signs that he was a rich man. He gets his clothes and other things from charity shops.

This change is not a tragedy. Charles was happy to give up the lifestyle of a rich man. He was tired of being a person who had everything and many people have nothing. He made the choice to give all his money away. He says, it has brought him happiness. “A few years ago,” says Charles.” I was a millionaire, but I knew there were a lot of hungry people in the world.” So, he gave away all his money to charities. When he had some left, he gave away small banknotes in the streets of local poor areas.

Charles believes that many people want to earn a lot of money so that they will not have any worries. However, most people never make much money. He decided to drop out and has discovered that having only a little money makes you free. Are there any things he misses? “No, I’m much happier now. The Most Important Modern Invention: The Computer

The computer is the most important modern invention because it has changed how we live. In the past, students often went to the library to do research, but now, most research is done on a computer using the internet. There is a library near my house, but I don’t go there very often. Also, computers have changed how people communicate. People write emails instead of letters, and with the invention of services like Skype, telephones may one day be replaced by computers. I can use my telephone to go on the internet and check my email.

Finally, computers have made travelling much easier; we can buy airplane tickets using a computer, and GPS technology makes it easier to reach our destination.

In Short, the invention of the computer has given us new possibilities and conveniences which now seem hard to live without.

The doctor said there was nothing wrong with my eyes and said he thought I was probably lazy. This was very annoying, but I was pleased to know that I did not need to wear glasses. Now I am older, I understand my problem better. The truth is that I cannot concentrate on what I am reading if there is any noise around me, so, for example, I cannot read in a room where people are talking or watching television. I sometimes read in bed where it is quiet, but if I am tired, I fall asleep after a few minutes and forget what I have read the next day.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Many experts believe there are too many people in the world. Unless there are big changes in the way people think about the number of children they should have, the world’s population will double in 25 years. There will be more than 20 cities with populations greater than 20 million. Now there is only one. Some people - who do not understand what overpopulation, means - point to countries such as Australia and say, “There is plenty of room there”. Although - most of Australia is unpopulated, and much of it is thinly populated. Another major problem we shall have to face as the world’s population grows, is a shortage of energy. We are using up coal and oil and when they have been used up, we shall have to find something to take their place. It is true that we can make electricity from the heat of the sun and moving water, but we do not yet have, the technology to do this in a big way. Perhaps, the biggest problem we shall have when the world’s population doubles will be pollution. The air we breathe is already badly polluted.

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

Life in the city and life in the countryside

Life in the city, as well as life in the countryside, has its merits and demerits. Some people prefer the simple healthy life in the country. There they can avoid the smoke of factories, the noise of cars and the traffic jams. They can also enjoy the beauty of nature and breathe fresh and pure air. They can avoid pollution of cars and other vehicles. However, the village lacks many of the services that are found in cities. They don't have modern malls, hospitals or computer companies.

On the other hand, some people prefer living in the city to enjoy all the advantages of modern life. Life there is easier and more comfortable. Services are several and various. There are many developed schools, libraries and hospitals as well as interesting theaters, cinemas, circuses and funfairs. People get everything delivered to their homes. However, there are some disadvantages of living in a city. There is too much pollution. Traffic jam delays a lot of work. There are high levels of crime and violence. In fact, it doesn't matter where we live, what matters is how much we enjoy our lives.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Should we work all the time without having rest or entertainment? The answer is that we can't go on working without stopping, from time to time , to have some rest. If we did we could make mistakes and the quality of our work might get worse. An overworked person may end up by losing the ability to think clearly and by having no energy to go on working. Sleep is one of the ways in which nature renews our energy. Sports and games are also essential for brain workers who stay in closed offices and do not have a good chance to exercise their muscles. Such activities as swimming and walking may do them a lot of good. So, we should not waste our weekends. They should be made full use of and spent in the open. Having forgotten all about our work and the worries of life, we can then enjoy ourselves to the full and return the next day to work with our energy fully renewed. Change has a magic effect on man's health and consequently on his performance.

1- Sleep is necessary for ……….

a- The children b- the sick people c- the old people d- all people

2- Why do you think people should stop work every now and then?

3- In your own words, What should we do while we are having some rest?

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

Using computer can have more negative than positive effects on children.

I agree that young children can be negatively affected by too much time spent on the computer every day. The main concern is about the type of computer activities that attract children. These are often electronic games that tend to be very intense and rather violent. Even when children use a computer for other purposes, such as getting information or emailing friends, it is no substitute for human interaction. Spending time with other children and sharing experiences is an important part of a child's development that cannot be provided by a computer.

In spite of this, the obvious benefits of computer skills for young children cannot be denied. Their adult world will be changing constantly in terms of technology and the Internet is the key to all the knowledge and information available in the world today. Therefore it is important that children learn at an early age to use the equipment with confidence as they will need these skills throughout their studies and working lives.

I think the main point is to make sure that young children do not overuse computers. Parents must ensure that their children learn to enjoy other kinds of activity and not simply sit at home, learning to live in a virtual world.

8- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

The basic purpose of education is to teach children knowledge, values of behaviour they will need in the adult world and will move from one generation to another. Education is largely informal that occurs with the family. Family members teach children the values of their society as well as certain basic skills. Parents may teach their children the skills of cooking, food gathering, hunting and fishing. By this way 4hildren learn the way of society by taking part in adult activities.

Formal education which involves instructions by specially trained teachers who follow officially recognized policies, is called schooling. Schools achieve this goal through a set of courses that include such subjects as languages and literature, history, geography, mathematics, science and foreign languages. Also schools develop the critical thinking of students' skills that are necessary to meet their needs in the future.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

When was the last time you walked down a rubbish-free street? Although millions of pounds are spent on clearing rubbish every year, this alone cannot solve the problem. The solution lies in our hands. Dropping litter in street is against the law in Britain. You can be fined up to 1.000 pounds. Not only is litter ugly, but it can also be dangerous. Why is there so much litter? Most consumer products are over-packaged; a single item may be wrapped in plastic, put in a box, wrapped in cellophane and then put in a plastic carrier bag. What can we do about this growing problem? Try recycling paper and plastic bottles. Never drop litter; consider the smallest piece of paper contributes to the problem. Avoid buying over-packaged items from supermarkets and take your own carrier bags.

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

How to protect the environment

It's well known that keeping the environment clean and healthy is the responsibility of all of us. This includes both the individuals and the government.

We, individuals, can keep our environment clean in many ways. We have to rely on clean sources of energy. It's necessary to reduce our use of sources of energy which pollute the environment. We have to stop throwing rubbish in the streets. Following the rules of personal hygiene and public sanitation is vital for us to be protected from infectious diseases. Farmers mustn't spray farmland with poisonous fertilizers. People should drive their cars only when they need. People can plant trees along streets and roads to take in carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and produce more oxygen and help the world to breathe pure and fresh air.

The government should also play to do its role towards the environment, it should take strict measures to keep a safe and clean environment. The government must ban using harmful chemicals that damage the environment. Factories should stop dumping their waste. Factories must be moved to remote areas to avoid the deadly effects of smoke, waste and noise.

In a nutshell, keeping our environment sound and beautiful will be an easy matter if we insist on doing it.

8- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

People use the word “friend” in a many ways. A friend can mean anything from a person you meat by chance to someone you’ve known your whole life. Whoever they are, friends are an important part of life at every stage. They provide safety and emotional support. Of all our relationships, friendships are the most important.

It’s easy to stay in a circle of friends you’re comfortable with. But as you get older, friendships may be lost. People move away or you just lose track of them. Building friendships is a lifelong job.

Whether friendships are old or new, you can’t neglect them if you want them to last. Even though it’s sometimes hard to spend time together, it’s important to keep in touch. Two other keys are flexibility and respect. Be understanding when plans change. If you find yourselves fighting, try to look at things from the other person’s point of view. Good friends are hard to find, harder to leave, and impossible to forget.

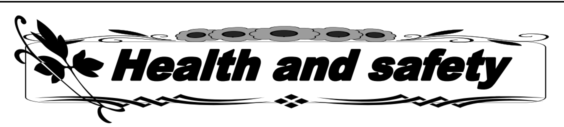

1- The older you get, the................. friends you have.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

What inspires someone to make a new invention? Most inventors are inspired by need. Louis Braille, who was born in 1809, lost his sight when he was a child. However, his parents helped him to continue his education. His teachers helped him a lot and he reached the top of his class. When he was a teenager, he was given money to study at the Royal Institution for the Blind, where he started to use a simple raised-print system for reading.

Louis Braille invented a better system based on raised dots. The dots are put into patterns in a rectangle which has six positions for dots. The different arrangements of the dots represent the letters of the alphabet or other characters. There are symbols for punctuation marks and for math and music. A blind person reads by feeling the dots with their finger tips.

Braille writing was not well known until sixteen years after its inventor's death in 1852. Today, it is used in almost every country in the world and is considered the standard form of reading and writing for the blind.

How to avoid illness

Cleanliness is one of the best habits that we should always follow. There are two kinds of cleanliness: sanitation, public cleanliness, and hygiene, personal cleanliness.

To have sanitation, all public places should be clean and hygienic. People everywhere should help keep the environment clean and they shouldn't throw rubbish in the streets. If we want to avoid illnesses, we have to follow the rules of personal hygiene. We should keep everything around us clean. We should keep away from unclean or dirty places. We have to wash our hands before eating meals.

We have to bathe more often in hot weather. We mustn't leave food uncovered otherwise it will attract harmful flies and insects. We must avoid dealing with people with infectious diseases. Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Today you can find fast food restaurants in almost every big city. But why do people prefer fast food restaurants? Two things make fast food restaurants popular. Speed and price. People's time is valuable. They don't want to waste a lot of time eating or preparing food. The service is fast, so they can order what they want, eat it and be finished in less than 15 minutes. And prices are cheap. Because of the large number of meals sold every day in the fast food restaurants, costs are kept low. Another thing people like is that they can be sure what the food will taste in a fast food restaurant.

Some say that fast foods have no value. Fast foods such as beef burgers contain too much salt, carbohydrates and fat. But one thing is sure; most people everywhere like fast foods and find it a comfortable and cheap way to eat.

1- Most people find fast foods ………..…
a) expensive. b) cheap. c) comfortable. d) comfortable and cheap
2- Do you think that fast food restaurants are widely spread nowadays? Why? Why not?

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

The problem of Illiteracy

Illiteracy is related to many other problems such as poverty, over-population and governmental corruption. Let us take a more detailed look at the causes of this growing problem in many countries.

One of the most obvious reasons for the increase in illiteracy is the television. Children no longer have to read to obtain information. Neither do they have to read to relax. Today children get home from school and go straight to "the box" to watch their favorite program. Watching television is much easier and more exciting than reading.

Another reason for the increase in illiteracy is the fact that so many women work. This means that children are often alone at home and so they are unsupervised. When parents get home they are often too tired to spend quality time with their children.

It is also true that many people blame illiteracy on schools. In many countries there has been a move away from teaching basic skills such as reading and writing.

There are many effects of this growing illiteracy rate. The most obvious is unemployment. This may in turn lead to alcohol and drug abuse. Ultimately the economy of the country begins to suffer and there is a drop in living standards.

To solve this problem, parents need to become more aware of their responsibilities and schools need to consider a change in their teaching methods.

8- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

A Japanese professor has produced evidence to show that computer games can have a bad effect on children. Many parents and grandparents have been saying this for years, but they were largely ignored. Parents' worries about computer games often relate to their effect on their children's health and on their own social skills. They feel that they should be outdoors; getting exercise and enjoying the fresh air while playing with their friends. Since many of them usually play by themselves, they live rather isolated lives, with little opportunity to interact with other people. As a result, they may be very poor at communication. Parents are also worried in case the violence of many of the games will cause their children to become more aggressive and violent themselves. This anxiety also applies to television, which often shows scenes of extreme cruelty.

1- Violence and cruelty can be caused by..............

a) computer files b) parent's worries

c) exercises d) TV scenes and computer games

2- Why do you think parents are against computer games?

3- Do you think there are any other games that have bad effects on children?

3- Write an essay of about 150 words on one only of the following topics:

Health is Wealth

There is an old saying, "Health is Wealth." Health is a state of complete physical, social and mental well being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity. Health is thus a level of functional efficiency of living beings and a general condition of a person's mind, body and spirit, meaning it is free from illness, injury and pain. It is a resource of everyday life and a positive concept emphasizing physical capabilities.

Good health is a secret of every happy man. Staying healthy for children is vital for proper growth and development of mind and body as they need to focus in the class and fully participate in the activities on the field. Parents must take their children for medical check-up and learn from experts about their development in terms of height and weight, as it has a huge impact on their overall performance and efficiency. If you are strong and healthy, you can be a shining example to others and teach them how to achieve good health.

8- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Recent research has revealed that passive smoking, even over short periods of time, can temporarily damage a non-smoker's heart. Experts have been warning for some time of the health risks caused by inhaling the smoke from other people's cigarettes, but the average person does not yet seem to be very aware of such risks. People in most countries know, for example, that smoking can lead to respiratory diseases, including serious diseases, such as lung cancer. However, their knowledge of the consequences of passive smoking seems very limited. Most people who do not smoke regard smoking as an antisocial habit which causes them some discomfort, rather than as a danger to their health. They may always sit, when possible, in the no-smoking areas of restaurants or other public places. Still, many of them do not yet realise that being in the company of smokers can make them actually ill.

1- According to the writer, "to be in the company of smokers" is to .....

a) object to smoky atmosphere b) buy others' company

c) sit among smokers d) smoke with others

2- How do you think non-smokers try to avoid the bad effects of smoking?

3- What do you think someone decides to start smoking?
